

APPENDIX 1

Photographic evidence of events in Wellington Beer Garden over the period 2000 – 2021

Photo to left showing garden event with white marquee and seating in location of proposed house

Photo to right showing garden laid out with tables used for beer and food, with children playing in the area of the proposed house

Photo to left showing a white marquee spanning the entire width of the garden on a folk and jazz evening with tables used across the garden

Photo to left showing tables pushed together in the beer garden on a busy summer's evening with children playing in the background

Photo to right showing one of the many BBQs where the garden was fully used on a warm summer's evening

Photo to left depicting a busy event spanning the entire width of the beer garden where the house is proposed. Orange chairs and white tables span the garden (which are currently stored in the garage proposed to be demolished)

Photo above showing a busy event using the entire beer garden, with the smoking shelter (proposed to be demolished) used as a bar. Many tables and chairs are also placed across the area proposed for a new house.

Photo above showing a busy event using the entire beer garden, with many tables and chairs across the area proposed for a new house. Also showing the children's play area in busy use.

Photo to right depicting a busy event spanning the entire width of the beer garden where the house is proposed. Orange chairs and white tables (currently stored in the garage to be demolished) span the garden

Photo to left showing the smoking shelter (proposed to be demolished) used as a bar. It has also been used many times for BBQ prep and sales.

Photo to left showing how the garden was often laid out before events, utilising the entire area.

Photo to right showing another version of how the garden was laid out before events like wakes and birthday parties.

Photo to left showing how the smoking shelter (proposed to be demolished) was ideal for events.

Photo to left showing how the garden area where the house is proposed was frequently laid out for events.

Photo to right showing how the entire garden was frequently used for events.

